

5 Mistakes That 83% Students Make While Applying To Universities Abroad

1. Students don't have complete set of academic marksheets at the time of making applications to universities abroad. Eventually they end up losing a lot of time and even miss the deadlines.
2. They copy Statement of Purpose (SOP) of their friends/ relatives. This is not acceptable and may lead to rejection of application.
3. They write their own LORs and give to the concerned teacher to print on their letterhead. LORs should be written in respective teacher's language only.
4. Students apply to universities that are beyond their budget, and hence, even after getting the offer letter they are unable to enroll. Eventually they waste their time, effort, and money.
5. 81% students don't apply on time and hence miss application deadlines.
